Notable features: The ceilings are 11 feet high; the walls are plaster. It has 8 rooms and one bath. Each room has a fireplace. The barns around it and the wall are as old as the house. The rock porch came from stone found in the quarry on their land. Electricity was added to the house in 1929. Historic significance: This house is over two ^{one} hundred years old. The present owner has a few antiques passed down generation to generation. Also, in 1913, the Henry's purchased a small building that sits ^{sits} in their back yard; it was the old Quincy jail house. The building used to sit across from the Quincy Christian Church. Description: It is a square frame house constructed of wood. The house has grayed with age. It sits off the road a little way in a beautiful setting. The back of the house faces the road used now. The jail house is very small building constructed of wood. There are two tiny windows at each end covered with bars. There is just one door. Physical condition of structure: The interior and exterior are not endangered.
